Desperately Seeking 'Soong'

presented by Ken Goh

Soong is a state that all tai chi practitioners seek that distinguishes tai chi from 'hard' methods.

It has been claimed to relieve stress and enhance health, and the martial artist who is in soong can perform seemingly powerful action without much effort.

Ken offers the results of his research to help get a "break-through" into Soong.

This seminar should be of interest to practitioners who have been frustrated in their search for Soong.

The instructional mode is mainly "do, experience and test". & doesn't matter what style background...

Ken Goh started learning Tai Chi in 1974 in the Yang style in Malaysia.

In Australia he started to learn the Chen styles.

Inner Strength Tai Chi Chuan is his school.

He has aimed to be analytical as well as intuitive in his research of Tai Chi principles.
